Johnny Carroll Winner Of C.A.P. Trip To France

Johnny Carroll, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Carroll who keep the wheels running at the Cone Mills Club, leaves Sunday for a month's trip to France. Johnny, who is 17 years old and a senior at Greensboro Senior High School, won the trip over 10 other Civil Air Patrol members in North Carolina.

Over 100 boys from the entire United States will visit American air installations in various countries in Europe. Johnny's visit will be in France only. He will make reports to C.A.P. squadrons and to various other organizations when he returns in August.

A captain in the C.A.P. for the past two years, and a cadet commander for three, Johnny was selected on the basis of his school grades, recommendations from his school principal and his pastor and a general interview held by C.A.P. officials in Charlotte.

Transportation will be by army plane. The trip will start from Raleigh-Durham Airport Sunday morning.

Girls Enjoy First Period Of Day Camp

Twenty-four girls enjoyed a week of day camping activities and overnight at Camp Herman July 6-10. Some of the activities were: devotions, swimming, boating, kickball, games, singing, crafts, scavenger hunt, hiking and a cook-out.

Girls are urged to get in their registration cards early for the second session. There are still a few vacancies.

Magazine Recognizes Halthcock Suggestion

Textile Industries magazine recently gave additional recognition to David Halthcock, White Oak Card Room employee, for his suggestion.

Mr. Halthcock suggested that a scaffold be installed at the new pickers which will make it easier to get to them in case of repair and which will reduce the accident hazard of working on these machines.

Hears Program W.M.U. At 16th St.

The Women's Missionary Union of the Sixteenth Street Baptist Church held its monthly meeting July 14.

The topic of the program was "What Do You Know About Today's Lepers?" Those taking part on the program were Betty Taylor, Clara McDaniel, Patsy Wheeler, Martha Harris, and Edith Slate, intermediate G.A. Counselor.

Cone Employee Is "Father of the Year"

When Father's Day rolled around this year, a Cone employee, Roosevelt Taylor, on the general maintenance staff at Print Works Plant, was honored with the title, "Father of the Year," by his friends and neighbors.

This was not the first time Roosevelt had been so honored. Back in 1948, he and his wife were crowned as "Number 1 Neighbors."

The going has not been easy for this family of five children, for since after the birth of the first child, Rudolph, 24 years ago, the mother has been totally blind. Mrs. Taylor has never seen her four other children.

The disability has not caused them to become disheartened or slovenly. Each of the children has the reputation of being clean, courteous and industrious, just as their parents are.

The Taylor's own their own modernly equipped home at 1309 Lindsay Street. The entire family pitches in to help the mother with the housework.

In addition to his job at Print Works, Mr. Taylor also holds down another job and has time to do work around the house and help care for the children. For 22 years he has been a member of the Grace-Luther Memorial Lutheran Church. He served as superintendent of the Sunday School and also taught a Bible class. He has been an active member of the Young Men's Club and served as scoutmaster of Troop No. 42 of the Lutheran Church. Mrs. Taylor is also a member of the same church and attends regularly.

Natives of Guilford County, both Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were born and reared in Oak Ridge. Mr. Taylor attended the Immanuel Lutheran College, was graduated from the high school department in 1928 and later attended the junior college. His wife attended the public schools of Oak Ridge and Summerfield. They were married in 1928. Their children are Rudolph, 24; Gary, 17; Roosevelt, Jr., 12; Kermit, 10, and Cynthia Kay, five. Three of the children attend the Lutheran day school, and the oldest is in the navy.

1. Reach into almost any moving piece of machinery with oil can, wrench or mop. This is an almost sure-fire method of losing a hand or at least some fingers. Ask the man who's tried it.

2. Get under or partially inside a machine without cutting off motor or locking the starting lever or leaving any signal for the operator. Be sure that you are out of sight so that the operator can't see you. This method is unconditionally guaranteed to get you in close touch with either a whole flock of doctors or St. Peter himself.

3. Lifting with your back (as though it were a derrick) instead of with your legs will insure your getting lots of medical attention but results are often different. Try lifting regularly with your back, and be sure the loads are heavy and that you are in a hurry. Jerk the load. It will get you to the hospital in time if not at once.

4. Use tools incorrectly or use bad tools. Results of this method (Continued on Page 4)

Cone Reservists Train In Military Work Again

Two reservists from Cone Mills Inc. have solved their annual problem of whether the khaki uniform still fits. Proof of the pudding is in the two-week training period at Camp Drum attended by Col. William H. Dribben, assistant vice-president, and Sgt. Jack Brantley, Cone salesman in the New York area.

They picked up their sunbats and fatigues and headed for the camp June 21 with all their uniforms ready to wear. Col. Dribben was chief of administration and personnel at the camp where more than 500 reserve officers, mostly majors and colonels, are putting into practice their military specialties.

The reservists in Col. Dribben's school received advanced training in nine branches of the army including infantry, artillery, chemical corps and military police, which is the colonel's branch.

Sgt. Brantley's assignment in the school was projectionist and he was decked out in his room full of reels, projectors and screens.

Despite their busy schedule, Sgt. Brantley and Col. Dribben saved time for brushing up on range firing and tank driving—all part of their annual two-week return to Army life.

Red Cross Announces New Blood Donor Plan

R. M. Johannesen, chairman of the local Chapter's Blood Program, announced a new plan for community recruitment of blood donors for the Red Cross Blood Program, which has just entered its second year of operation. Meeting with the newly formed Blood Program Committee, Johannesen emphasized the need for greater community participation in the program.

Briefly reviewing the first year of the program he stated that 4,258 pints of blood were given voluntarily by public-spirited citizens of our community. With a total quota for the year of 4,518 we feel that the shortage of 260 pints was a very small percentage. However, he continued, with a greatly increased quota of 6,400 pints for the 12 months beginning July 1, 1953, through June 30, 1954, we must not let the job of donating blood fall on a minority group. Continuing, he stated, "The purpose of this committee is to explain the program to many more people in our community and to stimulate them to be blood donors. Since all in (Continued on Page 4)

19 From Cone Mills Attending Southern Industrial Conference

Nineteen delegates from Cone Mills Corporation left Wednesday to attend the Southern Industrial Relations Conference at Blue Ridge. The conference will end tomorrow. Theme for the program of this 34th annual session is "Fundamentals of Industrial Leadership."

This year's group includes: Proximity Plant—Louis Kuepferle, overseer, weaving; James Clapp, assistant overseer, weaving; Foster Carter, assistant overseer, carding; Artis Everhart, assistant overseer, dyeing; Rufus May, overseer, winding.

Revolution Division—J. A. Blackwood, overseer, napping; Elbert Powers, assistant overseer, finishing.

White Oak Plant—Norman Pinkerton, personnel assistant; Clarence Moreland, plant office.

Print Works Plant—Jack Stanley, main office; Ben Thornburg, main office.

Central Power Plant—C. H. Sutenfield, foreman.

Edna Plant (Reidsville)—S. L. Adams, personnel assistant; Lee Allison, overseer, weaving.

Tabardrey Plant (Haw River)—Irwin Williams, personnel assistant; Howard Law, assistant overseer, spinning.

Eno Plant (Hillsboro)—Sydney Green, manager.

Pineville Plant (Pineville)—Harold Carpenter, personnel assistant; Flem G. James, overseer, carding.

Cone Post 386 To Plan Membership Drive

Cone Post 386, American Legion, held its regular meeting Friday, July 10, in the Legion Hall. Commander Herbert W. Shores, Jr., presided over the business session.

Plans will be formulated at the next regular meeting on August 14 for a 1954 membership drive. Plans are to contact every eligible veteran in the four local communities as well as in other parts of the city.

After the business session the group had a watermelon slicing.

TV Program Guest

The Textorian manager appeared as guest on the television program, "Carroll's Corner," yesterday over WFMV-TV. She discussed various points pertaining to textiles both modern and ancient which she gathered from her trip to Europe this Spring.

Y's Men To Have Picnic Supper July 21

Proximity Y's Men's Club will have a hamburger supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Angel, 1303 Summit Avenue, at 6 p.m. next Tuesday, July 21. Wives of members will be special guests. The supper will be served in the garden of the home.

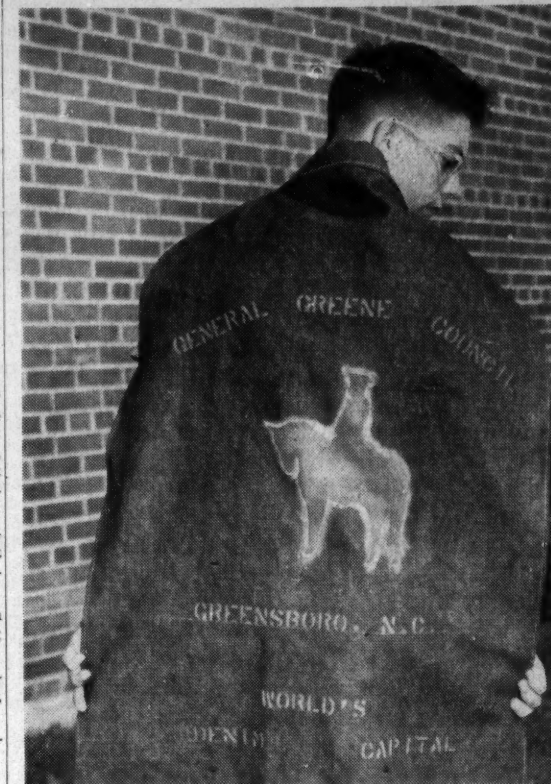

Visit Here

Sgt. and Mrs. Harold Kenworthy and baby daughter, Barbara Anne, left July 4 for San Francisco, California, where Sgt. Kenworthy will be stationed for one year at Letterman General Hospital.

The Kenworthys have been visiting with Mrs. Kenworthy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Delancey, 1107 Vine Street.

PINEVILLE SUGGESTION—Walter L. Feaster, first shift yard hand at Pineville Plant, suggested that fire extinguishers be placed in cotton warehouses. He received a check from Cone Mills Corporation for his thoughtfulness.

TO PROMOTE CONE DENIM—Shown above is Dan Ed McConnell with one of the Cone deepstone denim capes that was taken to the Boy Scout Jamboree now going on at Santa Ana, Calif. Young Dan and the other local scouts thought up this idea for the denim promotion.

Cone Denim Goes To Boy Scout Jamboree

Fifty thousand Boy Scouts will have an opportunity to see samples of Cone denim when the 15 delegates from Greensboro wear their Cone deepstone denim capes at the National Boy Scout Jamboree this week at Santa Ana, Calif. The local scouts also expect to use their denim capes, two apiece, as trading material and think they should receive at least a 10-gallon hat or an entire foreign scout uniform in exchange for one, according to Dan Ed McConnell. It was his jamboree group which sparked the idea for the denim promotion.

Schools To Open On September 1

The Greensboro City Schools will open the 1953-54 session at 8:30 a.m., September 1.

The announcement is being given early so that vacation plans can be made in accordance with the facts, so that the compulsory attendance law, which requires that children attend for the full term, may be complied with and so that everyone may get a proper beginning, which is a great help to the success of the year.

Registration announcement will be given later.

The calendar provides for a holiday for the observance of Labor Day on Monday, September 7.

The cooperation of all parents is respectfully requested, and confidently anticipated.

The capes bear the likeness of the General Greene equestrian statue at Guilford National Park and the words "General Greene Council, Greensboro, N. C., World's Denim Capital." This has been stenciled on the denim.

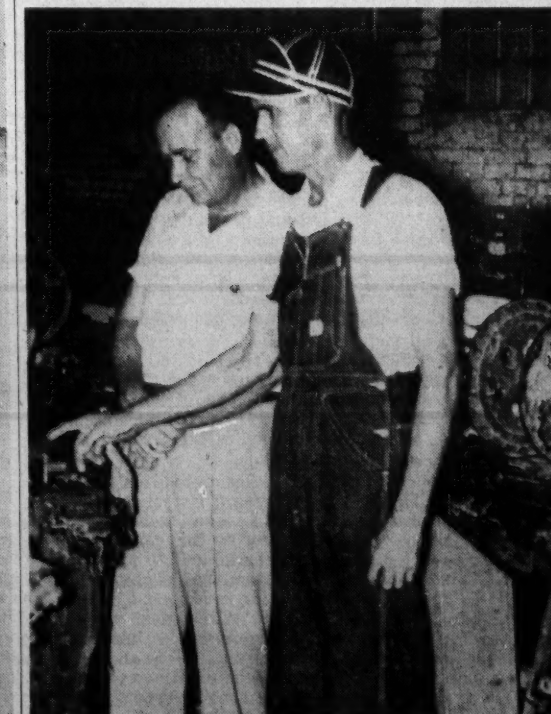

While at the jamboree, young Dan, 15-year-old Sea Scout son of Cone Mills engineer Dan McConnell, will set up a display of samples of Cone denim, both Play denim and deepstone, and will show some of his camp articles he has made from the heavier fabric. He will also show copies of "The Story of Cone Denim" and have on hand some of the Cone denim pouches.

The boys and their scoutmaster, Ed Sharpe, left Greensboro last Saturday night on a train bedecked with a Cone denim streamer reading, "Nothing Could be Finer than to Live in Greensboro, North Carolina."

HONORED—This picture of the Roosevelt Taylor's was made in 1948 when they were crowned "No. 1 Neighbors" at their home on Lindsay Street. On Father's Day of this year, Mr. Taylor was endorsed by Councilman W. A. Hampton and friends as "Father of the Year." The Taylor's are seated. Their oldest son was not present for the picture. Reading from left to right, standing, are Kathryn Gilmer, Mrs. Annie Gilmer, Miss Carolyn Crawford, Mrs. W. S. Sullivan, Mrs. Bessie Richmond, Simmie Johnson, Mrs. Sudie E. Bynum, J. F. Johnson, Mrs. Ella Lawrence, Mrs. William Womack, Mrs. Helen Johnson and Mrs. Mary Wilson.

PINEVILLE SUGGESTION—Willie O. Moore, first shift loom fixer at Pineville Plant, suggested that a spring be placed on feeder lift of X-2's. He received a check from Cone Mills Corporation for his idea.

Extremely Harmful

It is most regrettable that Senator McCarthy does not realize that he is rendering himself, his political party and the entire nation a tremendous disservice by his continuous behavior. We have tried to be as tolerant toward Senator McCarthy as possible, purely because we felt that at one time it required extraordinary activity on the part of someone to smoke out communistic influence in government. A mild-mannered man, modest in his approach, could have accomplished very little in arousing public attention to the increasing red influence in the United States. For that reason, during the past administration when most every exposure was termed a "red herring," we were of the opinion that he was rendering a service to the nation, although in normal times we do not admire tactics such as were used by Senator McCarthy.

A continuation by Senator McCarthy of his tactics is entirely unnecessary at this time and is extremely harmful to the very cause he proposes to champion. It is to be hoped that those closest to the Senator will promptly take action to try to get him to see the light. Even if his motives are extremely tainted with selfishness, we cannot see what he expects to gain from an individual standpoint by his reckless, haphazard, and at times, illogical methods.

By condemning Senator McCarthy at this time we do not mean to imply that we should in any way let up in our vigilance or that we should go easy on those who are guilty of undermining this government or in championing communism in this country. We should have an intelligent, thorough, and fair method of determining the facts at all times in ferreting out the reds or communistic sympathizers from positions of responsibility. This can be done without McCarthyism and we sincerely hope that prompt steps will be taken to put an end to the deplorable methods and practices of the Senator.

LISTEN AMERICANS!

... by George S. Benson
President of Harding College

Communism in America cunningly uses the follow-the-leader impulse to recruit vigorous young people into the conspiracy. Nowhere is this more clearly revealed than in the testimony of Herbert Philbrick, of Boston, during a recent hearing of the Senate Internal Security Committee. He worked undercover as a counterspy for the FBI for nine years and became a trusted associate of national Communist leaders.

His career with the Communists started early in 1940 when, at the age of 23, he was attracted to the Cambridge Youth Council in Boston. He was later to learn that it was created and operated by the Communists to snare and train youth for communism.

"Among the incentives presented to me to join," he testified, "was the fact that the organization had a number of adult people in the community who were something as sponsors of this organization. Among them I remember I was told that Kirtley Mather of Harvard University was a sponsor. Another individual, I was told, was a Prof. Dirk J. Struik, of Massachusetts Institute of Technology."

"Well I assumed that with these individuals, well known in their field, renowned scholars, and particularly since they were members of the faculty of these great universities, Harvard and M.I.T., that, of course, the organization would be all right. They attracted not only me, but, in subsequent developments, attracted some 35 youth organizations in Cambridge involving about 400 or 500 young people."

When young Philbrick discovered the true nature of the Cambridge Youth Council he went to the FBI and was subsequently persuaded to become a Communist for the FBI. He did such a good job for the Communists, the national leaders selected him to go underground in the fall of 1947. He became a member of a Boston underground cell called "Pro-4." They were professional, secret Communists.

"As near as I could determine," Philbrick testified, "there were five to six doctors in the pro group; lawyers, between six and eight; teachers—and by that I mean teachers in the public schools—about six; professors in the colleges and universities, a number ranging between 20 and 30 pro group Communist Party members. This was the largest single element of individuals in the pro section in Boston. The businessmen numbered between 12 to 15; government workers about four to five; in the book publishing field there were about four. And in the religious field between seven and eight."

"It was a matter of terrific shock when I discovered that actually the Communist Party had in its pro group section between seven to eight individuals, hardened, disciplined, steered party members posing as ministers of the gospel!"

These Senate Internal Security Committee reports are available to any citizen.

Pythian Echoes

by R. Cole Lee

The Monday session was opened with the announcement of the passing of John LaPrade, brother of Pythian James O. LaPrade.

Pythian Marvin Steele's wife, Mable, was taken to Wesley Long Hospital for an ailment which we sincerely trust will not prove too serious and for a stay that will not be too extended. Marvin, O. Chap, call on us if we can be of service to you in any way. Remember one of the aims of the Order which you have served so faithfully is to assist whenever and wherever the members can. We are ready to obey your command.

Pythian W. B. Burke, now known as "City Father Burke," announced that the drive for the Boiler Fund for the Pythian Home had reached a total of $400.00. Inspiring indeed was his reminder that many friends of the Order and lovers of little children were among the generous contributors.

Much has been stated about the possibility of having the Grand Lodge in 1954 to meet in our city. After careful deliberation and looking into every angle of such a meeting it was unanimously voted to grant other Lodges and locations the privilege of such a meeting!

Pythian Allen Webster is the only member of the Lodge that shares the distinct privilege of being addressed as "Mister." To be caught calling any other member of the Order while in session by that title is to be subject to a fine but not so when speaking to "Mister" Allen Webster. I have not been able to discover the basis of this "Mister" business, but when I do I suspect Pythian Allen will be at the bottom of it.

The other day I was reading through an old copy of the "Boy's World." While meditating upon an article entitled "Liking Folks," I could not help but drink deep of the thoughts contained in these words. I quote: "Learn to like people; not as relatives or friends or schoolmates or business associates, but just as 'folks.' This is one of the secrets of happiness and of success as well. Learn to like people. As a rule, they deserve it, for while there are base exceptions, and while nobody is perfect, in the average man and woman there is more gold than dross. Those whose hearts are full of hate and contempt for their fellows are doomed to be the most miserable of mortals." Like folks and you will find that folks like you.

Our new Chancellor Commander, Raymond Stansfield, invites the members to the Lodge next Monday evening at 7:30 p.m. Fellows, having occupied this chair of distinction, I know how encouraging it is to one of Pythian Raymond's position to have the members attend. Your attendance proves to him you are back of him and are willing to assist him in making the truths of the Order Knights of Pythias become a reality. We will look for you at the above time next week.

DOGS

by Tom Farley

Dog Stories, 100 Years Ago

Stories of the intelligence of dogs were no less popular in the last century than they are today, as copies of old magazines often attest.

In a beautifully written essay called "Man's Familiar Companion," published just 100 years ago this summer in "Harper's New Monthly Magazine," a now forgotten correspondent tells a number of dog stories that are as good today as the day they were written.

One of the best is the story of the strange experience of an English officer traveling in Paris in 1815. As written in the magazine the anecdote goes like this:

"An English officer in Paris in 1815, having occasion to cross one of the bridges over the Seine, had his boots, which had been previously polished, dirtied by a poodle dog rubbing against them. He in consequence, went to a man who was stationed on the bridge, and had them cleaned. The same circumstance, having occurred more than once, his curiosity was excited, and he watched the dog. He saw him roll himself in the mud of the river, and then watch for a person with well polished boots, against which he contrived to rub himself. Finding that the shoe-black was the owner of the dog, he taxed him with the artifice; and, after a little hesitation, he confessed that he had taught the dog the trick in order to procure customers for himself. The officer being much struck with the dog's sagacity, purchased him for a high price, and brought him to England. He kept him tied up in London for some time, and then released him. The dog remained with him a day or two, and then made his escape. A fortnight afterward, he was found with his former master, pursuing his old trade, of dirtying gentlemen's boots on the bridge."

Pineville News

Gloria Adkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Adkins, is in St. Philip's Hospital, Rock Hill, S. C.

Mrs. Betty Rodgers is undergoing an operation at Presbyterian Hospital, Charlotte, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Camel Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Allen, and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Satterfield spent the fourth at Carolina Beach.

Gary E. Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Cook, flew home for a few hours over the fourth of July. He is in the U. S. Army and taking his basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri. He worked in the Weave Room before entering service.

The Little League of Baseball in Pineville won several games last week. Monday, the Indians won one from the Dodgers. On Tuesday, the Red Socks downed the Dodgers.

Mr. and Mrs. Julian May and some friends spent last week at Cherry Grove Beach and Little River.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Rayfield of Charlotte spent last Sunday with Mrs. Jerry Coley is a patient at York County Hospital this week.

A newspaper survey covering 1,724 physicians revealed that 1,700 of them believe women should not wear shoes without stockings. Much of the increase in serious foot trouble among women, the doctors said, is due to the practice of going without stockings in summer.

Granite News

by Bertha S. Clayton

A ceremony of simplicity and beauty united Frances Stewart and Bobby Dale Garner in marriage on June 20 in the Haw River Methodist Church at two o'clock in the afternoon.

Rev. Dan Sharpe, pastor of the bride, officiated at the double-ring ceremony in the presence of immediate friends and family. Miss Thelma Cates presented a program of organ music, and Hardy Tew was the soloist.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Garner left for an unannounced honeymoon.

Mrs. Garner is a member of the Billing Department at the Granite Office.

On Saturday afternoon, June 27, in the Chapel of Davis Street Methodist Church, Mrs. Mollie Smith and Mr. Allie Dean were united in marriage. Rev. Jenkins, pastor of the bride, heard the vows before members of the families.

After a two weeks' honeymoon trip to Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Dean will be at home in Burlington. Mr. Dean is a supervisor in the Finishing Department at Granite.

J. Hunter Jones, a prominent citizen of Haw River, and Miss Madge Hobgood of Greensboro were married on July 9 in the Virginia Gilmer Room of the First Presbyterian Church in Greensboro. A reception was given in the Virginia Gilmer Room immediately following the ceremony.

Cone Fabrics Facts

CONE VELVETTE DIAPERS

The Flannelette Favorite

DIAPER: Originally applied to silk patterns of a geometric type. Later to diamond patterns made of linen or cotton. Modern definition confined to infants' breech cloths.

(The following is one of a series of write-ups on Cone fabrics which appears in the brochure recently published by Cone Mills Inc., New York.)

As the country's leading producer of flannelettes, the Cone Mills have been specially interested in their advantages for the "crib crowd." This has led to the development of the particular qualities which mothers and baby doctors have found best in cotton flannel diapers.

These qualities are very important. Diapers must be hygienically correct. They must be highly absorbent as well as soft and gentle, without any roughness to cause chafing or discomfort. Ease of washing and speed of drying are other basically important qualities. Along with easy care, mothers demand long wear and low cost.

These are precisely the qualities for which Cone Velvete® Diapers are known everywhere. Furthermore, mothers have the assurance that these diapers are endorsed by nurses, doctors and medical authorities generally.

Health For All

A Good Neighbor

The neighborhood gossip has it that Mr. Jones, who just moved into the white house up the block, is a former tuberculosis patient. There's a lot of talk. People are wondering if it's safe to have him around. Is it all right for our children to play with him? Can we have him over for dinner, sit next to him in church, or work with him at the factory?

It is safe to be around an ex-TB patient if his doctor has recommended his discharge from the TB hospital. Give Mr. Jones a chance and he will be one of the best neighbors we have. In fact, he's one of the few people you can be sure won't be passing on TB germs. He has had the disease and been cured. You can know for sure that he is non-infectious. The most serious danger of infection comes from the person who has TB but doesn't know it and from the person who knows he has TB but won't follow doctor's orders.

One of the most important things Mr. Jones learned in the TB hospital while he was getting well was how to live so that he would never again break down with TB, never again be a danger to those around him. When you have him over for dinner, you may find that he'll go home earlier than the rest of the crowd.

He has to be extra careful about getting enough rest and sleep. He has to stick to his "training rules" as carefully as an athlete preparing for a big game. He sees his doctor frequently and has regular X-rays to make sure that he is in good health. The kind of work he does and the kind of recreation he takes have been carefully chosen so that they will not overtax his strength.

As an ex-patient, Mr. Jones has some real problems that we can help him solve. Some people may be afraid of him. There may be some prejudice against him due to ignorance. It isn't easy to adjust to normal living after a long period of illness. He wants more than anything to be a good neighbor, a self-supporting, useful member of the community. We can help by showing people that we welcome him to the neighborhood. We can help by encouraging his efforts to live as he must to prevent a recurrence of the disease.

Pride In Your Work

Did you ever see a little boy come proudly to his Mother to show her the little model airplane which he had just built with his own two hands? Did you ever see the expression of pride in the child's face?

From the time we're tots, the vast majority of us take pride in our accomplishments. As kids, we take pride in our ability to play a game better than the next youngster. As we grow older, we take pride in our personal appearance—or in our athletic accomplishments—or in our social advancement.

As adults, we should certainly take pride in our work. For, after all, our daily work is the best indication of the sort of people we are. One of the best ways to take real pride in your daily work is to do it carefully. For, when you do your work carefully, you are indicating to others that you put a high value on your daily accomplishments—and also on your ability to do your work well.

Some folks feel that their daily work really doesn't matter—it's just another way of earning a living. But, in the long run, we get out of our work just what we put into it. When we take pride in our work and do it carefully, we get the deep-down satisfaction of having done our work well—and we also stand to profit most when a "better break" is in the wind.

may also be delayed but don't be fooled. Time will bring a really nasty injury. Here are some suggestions:

(a) Use mushroomed drift, hammer, chisel or other metal tool. This results in flying metal particles which can cut arteries or destroy eyes.

(b) If you use a knife, keep it open in your pocket and always cut towards your body. You may be able to jab in into your wrist or hand, cutting an artery. Or sooner or later the knife will slip while you are cutting and you may stab yourself in the stomach: you may even manage to cut a muscle or a nerve.

(c) Bent screw drivers and wrenches with spread jaws may help you to get your free ride. However, these are not recommended, as they usually cause only minor injuries. However, you may get a good case of infection if you don't report the injury and don't get first aid.

(d) Drip oil, water or grease on the floor and don't wipe it up: This method is a lulu if you want someone else to get a free ride. Of course, you may make it yourself because you will probably forget that the slippery place is there. Although this method sometimes fails to work, it frequently puts people on crutches for life.

(e) If none of the above methods suits your taste, try using a rickety ladder without anyone holding it. Don't put chocks under the feet and climb as high as you can over some machinery. Broken arms, legs, and backs are the normal results of this method but much fancier results are possible if you can arrange to fall into the right machine. You may even get to push up daisies on this one.

(f) Just a few more ideas to supplement the above suggestions for securing a fast ride: Wear loose clothing; wear cut-out shoes or slippers; wear jewelry while working on machines; women should wear long hair without a snood (rollers can actually scalp you) or scarf; and be stubborn and refuse to wear any and all protective equipment such as goggles or safety glasses, gloves, respirator, apron, boots, etc.

(Note: If you don't want a free ride in an ambulance, help your department and plant to win the Cone Safety award for July, August and September by observing all safety rules and helping others to do the same.)

Prompt Action Needed

News that heads of Federal agencies have cut hundreds of millions from their departmental budgets makes good reading. It shows that vast savings are possible. It is a step toward the point where we can sight a balanced budget and justify tax reduction.

A balanced budget, with tax cuts to stimulate the productive energies of the nation, is essential to America's continued power. Congressional inquiries have uncovered hundreds of instances of waste in both civilian and defense spending. This waste can be eliminated for the improvement of our domestic economy, without weakening our defense. Now is the time to do it.

On July 23 at 6:30 p.m. the Whiz Kids will meet the Revolution Division team and the Old Timers will meet the McAdoo Heights team in the second game.

Dominoes Tourney Ends

Twenty men participated on ten teams that were entered in the Proximity YMCA domino tournament. The team composed of Roy Wilson and Donald Maness went through the double elimination tourney with six straight victories. In the finals they defeated David Lanning and Willie Forsythe.

Roy Wilson cuts hair at Proximity Barber Shop and Donald Maness works in the finishing room at Proximity Plant.

In Second Place

The Cone Memorial YMCA Pony League team has been one of the outstanding teams in their league this year. To date they have won 11 games and lost three. They are now in second place.

Last Tuesday night they won a game over the Carolina Steel team, 2-0. Bill Sheppard pitched a one-hitter. The Cone Y team managed only one hit themselves, a single by Paul Sams, but squeezed across two runs to decide the contest.

Dick Elkins and J. T. Seawell have been coaching this team.

VISITOR — Miss Raj Chawla, noted Indian journalist who is working on various American newspapers on an exchange program, last week visited the Textorian office after she made a trip through White Oak Plant and Cone Mills Laboratory. Miss Chawla had just completed a period of work on the Baltimore Sun and was spending three days in Greensboro under the auspices of the Greensboro News-Record. She has gone on to work with the Atlanta Constitution and the Delta Democrat Times, Greenville, Miss. The sari, her native dress which she wears while in America also, is one continuous piece of material, five and one half yards in length. This one she is wearing is of pure Indian silk. She was presented with enough Cone Plisse for two saris.

Greensboro-Guilford County are given the blood at no charge when needed in a local hospital, we feel that it should be the privilege and responsibility of each of us to support the program. He also released to the committee the complete report of blood used in local hospitals for the twelve months July 1, 1952 through June 30, 1953. "We received the final report for the 12 months period this morning and find that 4,095 pints of blood have been given to residents of this area in our Greensboro hospitals."

He stated that blood usage in local hospitals has been considerably higher than was anticipated due to some increase in population plus the fact that research is constantly proving new ways in which blood may save lives and restore health to the ill and injured. "This, plus an increase in our quota for defense needs, is the reason our annual quota has been increased almost 2,000 pints."

Members of the new Community Blood Donor Committee, announced by Johannesen, are J. M. Fulton and W. B. McGlamery, vice-chairman; Mrs. C. Spencer Sullivan, Patrick H. Winston, George Prenz, Major Edward L. Sievers, Leonard J. Guyes, and Capt. Thomas Holt. Plan for recruitment is for these key committee members to set up sub-committees which will fan out into the community to do mass blood donor recruitment on a year-round basis.

This recruitment activity will function for all visits which have not been assigned to industrial plants, business firms and organized groups large enough to take a full day by themselves. Quota for each day's bloodmobile visit this year is 175 pints of blood or 350 pints for each two-day visit. "In order to secure the necessary minimum," Johannesen said, "it will be necessary to sign more than 400 donors for each two-day visit, since each person is given a physical check-up by the bloodmobile staff of doctor and nurses and is not allowed to donate unless found physically able to do so. Divisions with which the new committee will work are Auto, Tire and Accessories; Public Utilities; Construction; Metal and Metal Products; Manufacturing; Building Supplies; Coal and Oil; Public Service; Food Distributors; Beverage Distributors; Trucking; Wholesale; Downtown and Retail; and Residential.

Johannesen said that plans are also underway to form additional divisions which will work on recruitment in County communities outside of Greensboro.

He reminded the committee members that "This is not merely a Red Cross job. The more than 4,000 pints of blood used in our local hospitals this past 12 months has benefited several thousand members of our community. For many of these it has been a gift that can bear no price tag—the gift of life itself. Supported by voluntary contributions to Red Cross during its annual Fund Campaign, the Blood Program is fundamentally a Red Cross project, but it is the responsibility of the whole community. It is the concern of every one of us who lives in this area and only with community-wide support through blood donations can this life-saving miracle be available when and where it is needed."

Next visit of Bloodmobile will be July 22 and 23 at St. Andrews Church, W. Market Street. Hours will be 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on July 22 and 9:00 to 3:30 on July 23. Johannesen urged all who wish to donate to call the local Chapter House, 3-4481, for appointment.
